An aerial photograph of a coastal landscape. A red line starts from the top left and points towards a specific area. A pink rectangular box highlights a section of the coastline where a small, light-colored, irregularly shaped area is visible, possibly a natural depression or a small inlet. The surrounding terrain is a mix of green vegetation and sandy or rocky ground. In the bottom right corner, there is a small, dark, circular structure, likely a man-made feature like a water tower or a small building.
